Why in TELANGANA

Telangana is the largest producer of paddy and the second-largest producer of cotton in India.

Telangana has emerged as the fourth largest foodgrain producer in the country with nearly 13.6 per cent of total foodgrain production of 14.99 crore tonnes, in the recently concluded Vaanakalam (Kharif) season. Foodgrain production in Telangana is estimated to have hit nearly 2.03 crore tonnes including paddy production of around 1.5 crore tonnes.

Telangana's food grain production has increased from 68 lakh tonnes in 2014 to 3.5 crore tonnes in 2022-23 with paddy alone accounting for nearly 2.3 crore tonnes including about 1.19 crore tonnes of paddy procured from farmers. The foodgrain production is expected to increase further in Telangana during the current fiscal.

According to the union Agriculture Ministry, the procurement operations during the Kharif Marketing Season (KMS) were largely dominated by rice with Telangana being second largest contributor after Punjab.

The Central government is estimated to procure a total 7.75 crore tonnes of paddy during the KMS 2023-24. Of this, about 74.63 lakh tonnes of paddy is procured by Telangana into the Central pool and of this, more than 44 lakh tonnes of paddy has been already procured for milling.
